Accreditation Statement
CME Statement: This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the Essential Areas and Policies of the Accredit Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) through the joint sponsorship of Indiana University School of Medicine and the American Medical Women’s Association (AMWA). The Indiana University School of Medicine is accredited by the ACCME to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

CME Disclosure Statement
Indiana University School of Medicine designates this live activity for up to 25.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Faculty Disclosure Statement
In accordance with the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) Standards for Commercial Support, educational programs sponsored by Indiana University School of Medicine must demonstrate balance, independence, objectivity, and scientific rigor. All faculty, authors, editors, and planning committee members participating in an ACCME-sponsored activity are required to disclose any relevant financial interest or other relationship with the manufacturer(s) of any commercial product(s) or provider(s) of commercial services that are discussed in an educational activity.

Note: While it offers CME credits, this activity is not intended to provide extensive training or certification in this field.

Meeting and Course Description
This conference will convene leading academic physicians, scientists, students, and prominent policy makers to discuss advances in women’s health, new concepts in mentorship, and career advancement for women in medicine. The conference will address how advances in medical technology and affordability will affect the treatment of patients in the future.

Meeting and Course Objectives
At the conclusion of this program, attendees should be able to: 1. Incorporate guidelines on organ systems into clinical practice to improve management of diseases. 2. Discuss screening guidelines for early detection of osteoporosis and diabetes. 3. Define human trafficking, and identify economic, political, social, and cultural factors that contribute to human trafficking. 4. Support the monitoring and career development of women in medicine.
