AMWA 101st Anniversary Meeting
Charting the Next Century of Women in Medicine
WHEREAS: The American Medical Women’s Association (AMWA) is an organization that functions at the local, national, and international level to advance women in medicine and improve women’s health; and

WHEREAS: Founded in 1915, AMWA is the oldest multi-specialty organization of women in medicine, and its programs help provide leadership, advocacy, education, mentoring and strategic alliances, and

WHEREAS: As the vision and voice of women in medicine for a century, AMWA empowers women to lead in improving health for all within a model that reflects the unique perspective of women; and

WHEREAS: AMWA’s current initiatives include women’s health, preventive medicine, gender equity, mentoring, human trafficking, charitable support for the underserved, leadership, career advancement, global health, and the support of young women in medicine during their training; and, considering that, through its network alliances, AMWA works with healthcare organizations from all over the world; and

WHEREAS: It is fitting and appropriate that local authorities of the City of Miami, Florida, on behalf of its citizens, pause in our official deliberations to pay special tribute to the American Medical Women’s Association (AMWA) for their invaluable contributions to the health of women worldwide and their support of women in medicine, as well as to officially welcome them to the City of Miami on the occasion of their one hundred first Anniversary Meeting.

NOW, THEREFORE: I, Tomás P. Regalado, Mayor of the City of Miami, Florida, on behalf of the City Commission and all our citizens, do hereby commend

The American Medical Women’s Association (AMWA)

IN OBSERVANCE THEREOF: I call upon all residents of the City of Miami to join us in honoring the American Medical Women’s Association (AMWA).

IN WITNESS WHEREOF: I hereunto set my hand and cause the seal of the City of Miami to be affixed.

DONE: In the Office of the Mayor of the City of Miami, Florida.

RECOGNIZING THE 100TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE AMERICAN MEDICAL WOMEN’S ASSOCIATION

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to join me in recognizing the 100th anniversary of the American Medical Women’s Association, AMWA, the first national organization of women physicians.

One hundred years ago, less than 6 percent of all physicians in the United States were women. Recognizing a crucial need to provide support for these pioneering women and to bring diversity to the medical field, Dr. Bertha Van Hoosen founded the AMWA on November 18, 1915, in Chicago.

The AMWA quickly established a network and support system for women in the medical profession and documented their lack of opportunities in postgraduate training, internships, and academic appointments.

Over the years, the AMWA successfully advocated to increase leadership roles for women doctors, sponsored research and panel discussions on medical women in the workforce, and established scholarship and mentorship programs to encourage the next generation of women leaders.

The AMWA has also worked to improve women’s health by addressing issues from human trafficking and affordable contraceptive care, to childhood obesity and osteoporosis risk across the globe.

For the past century, the American Medical Women’s Association has served as the vision and voice of women in medicine. As we celebrate their extraordinary milestone, I ask my colleagues to join me in congratulating the AMWA for their tireless efforts to open the door for generations of women physicians. Because of their work, countless men, women, and children have benefited from the dedicated service of AMWA members, and for that we are all grateful.
Kim Templeton, MD is a tenured professor of orthopaedic surgery and residency program director at the University of Kansas in Kansas City. Dr. Templeton is a fellow of the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons and is a past member of both the AAOS Diversity Advisory Board and the Council on Research; she also developed and was the first chair of the AAOS Washington Health Policy Fellowship. She is past president of the Ruth Jackson Orthopaedic Society and the US Bone and Joint Initiative. She is co-chair of the National Quality Forum musculoskeletal committee and a member of the NBME. She is a past president and current member of the Kansas State Board of Healing Arts. Dr. Templeton serves on several editorial boards and was the editor for Women’s Sports Injuries. Dr. Templeton has received the Blackwell Award from AMWA, the Sirridge Award for Leadership in Medicine from the University of Kansas, and the Raising Our Voices Award from AMSA and has been inducted into the University of Kansas Women’s Hall of Fame.

Kim Templeton, MD
Welcome to AMWA’s annual meeting on behalf of the Resident Division!

Founded in 2010, the resident division serves as a bridge between the student and physician AMWA groups. We strive to promote female residents in one of the hardest times of their careers. We were successful in many initiatives this year including advocating for paternity leave, promoting awareness of bullying in the workplace, and holding multiple webinars such as transitioning into residency and teaching of mindfulness. Our proudest accomplishment has been in building our first ever resident branches accompanied by a branch starting manual. Additionally, we worked with the student division on many projects and continued to increase our membership numbers throughout the year. Overall, on behalf of the resident board, we enjoyed working with each other and with our member body! We look forward to our organization’s continued success in the year to come.

Hope to speak with you at our conference,

Heather B. Leisy, MD, MBA

Heather is originally from Virginia. She attended college at the University of North Carolina where she obtained a Bachelor of Science in Biology with Honors and minor in Chemistry. She then attended medical school at the Medical University of South Carolina in Charleston. At MUSC, Heather was dedicated to her local American Medical Women’s Association Chapter by serving as President for two years. During this time, she initiated the first interprofessional women’s health fair, coffee talks, and multiple volunteer activities. Some of these include Paws Go Red, Sugar Free Fall Festival, Susan G. Komen Foundation donation, and global relief through Water Missions International. Additionally during her time in medical school, she served in the student division as the Region 4 Coordinator. Heather continued her AMWA involvement in the Resident Division by serving as President-Elect. Given her community volunteer involvement, she was awarded the Elinor T. Christiansen Altruism Award. Heather currently serves AMWA as the Resident Division President. Her goals for women in medicine are to “continue to work together, to demonstrate how to balance personal and professional lives, and to continue to show our ability to be leaders in medicine.”

Dear AMWA Residents,

I am thrilled to serve as President of the Residency Division (RD) of the American Medical Women’s Association (AMWA) over the upcoming year. I look forward to meeting the new members from all of the divisions. I have already built long lasting friendships and meaningful connections since becoming a member of AMWA. I feel strongly about advancing women’s health and I am extremely thankful for both the networking and scholastic opportunities that AMWA continues to offer!

At the age of nine, my parents filed for divorce. My single mother raised me and my older sister and singlehandedly showed us the importance of independence. She demonstrated to me the value of career stability as a young woman. From this experience, I am inspired to support all women and hope to help build their careers, specifically during residency, as I am serving as President of the resident division.

For the upcoming year, my goals include recruiting resident members and physician members to partner with AMWA. I hope to provide multiple avenues for collaboration between mentors and mentees within our organization. I am currently working on advocacy efforts within the division, which include teaming with the AMA and their efforts to save GME. I have also been working on a project that brings attention to the issue of securing appropriate accommodations and work arrangements in residency training during paternal leave. I look forward to what the upcoming year has to offer!

Warmly,

Cherilyn Cecchini, MD

Cherilyn Cecchini is entering her second year of pediatrics residency at Children’s National Medical Center. She will serve as President of the Resident Division this year after having served President Elect for the past year. Prior to this, she worked as the AMWA Blog Coordinator as a member of the social media division. She graduated from Sidney Kimmel Medical College (formerly Jefferson Medical College) this past spring. During her time in medical school, she held the Secretary position of the Student Division. She also was elected to serve as co-president of her local Jefferson AMWA branch during her second year of medical school. Cherilyn grew up in Westchester County, New York and she attended The Pennsylvania State University as an undergraduate earning her MS in Biology. Her hobbies include reading, running, playing soccer and traveling. Her number one vice is diet Coke!
STUDENT PRESIDENT

Dear AMWA members,

I am so excited to welcome you all to celebrate 101 years of AMWA in Miami, Florida! I remember standing in the study of our founding member, Dr. Bertha Van Hoosen’s home a year ago in Rochester Hills, Michigan at the Van Hoosen Farms. I was looking at her script pad and journals, reflecting on a famous quote she once said: “When I was born, the door that separates the sexes had opened scarcely more than a crack. But it has been my privilege, my pain and my pleasure to pound on that door and finally see it, although not wide open, stand ajar.”

I’m proud to say that we as women in medicine have come so far in the last century. But we still have so much further to go. The student division has made exceptional strides this year and the credit lies among you, our dedicated and passionate student members. We kicked off our first-ever national recruitment initiative by discounting our membership rate and awarding chapters money back for new recruits. I am happy to report that we saw a nearly 300% increase in our membership rate compared to last year! Wow! AMWA members never cease to amaze me. You have been busy conducting fundraising drives, hosting mentorship events and advocating for women’s health issues. Remember, we are the future healthcare providers of tomorrow. The path we pave for ourselves now, as students, is the one we will walk on as physicians. I am leaving you in excellent hands with your incoming Student President, Samia Osman. I have no doubts that the student division will continue to flourish and grow under her leadership. I hope you have an inspiring and uplifting meeting; I’ve never left an AMWA conference feeling anything less.

All My Best,

Fatima Fahs

Fatima Fahs is a graduating fourth-year medical student at Oakland University William Beaumont (OUWB) School of Medicine, pursuing a residency in dermatology. She completed her undergraduate studies in Biology and Art as 1 of 15 MedStart Scholars at Wayne State University, graduating Summa Cum Laude. Prior to her role as Student Division President, Fatima previously served as Fundraising Chair then President of OUWB’s AMWA Chapter. Fatima is heavily involved in research, studying art therapy for stress management, microRNAs in wound healing and skin aging, teledermatology business modeling and the quality of life in patients with hidradenitis suppurativa. Outside of her responsibilities, Fatima enjoys acrylic painting. Fatima’s Blog: http://eatpaintheal.blogspot.com/

STUDENT PRESIDENT-ELECT

Dearest AMWA Family and Friends,

On behalf of the Student Leadership, it is my great pleasure to welcome you to the Magic City for our 101st American Medical Women’s Association Annual Meeting. Chance does not explain why we are here in each other’s company this weekend. Thank you for your active involvement and leadership in AMWA, and thanks to the leaders before us.

Hundreds of us have come to Miami, with diverse backgrounds and at different stages of careers. Yet, we all share a few commonalities: We are here because we believe gender equality cannot exist without active advocacy. We are here because we believe that women’s health is not a specialty, but an integral part of medicine. We are here because we believe that empowering women in medicine is the key to ensuring equality in society and to provide quality healthcare for all.

This meeting is about equality in medicine, healthcare for all, and you. It is about learning, advocating, and mentoring. It is about reconnecting old relationships, strengthening existing relationships, and fostering new relationships. It is about celebrating while learning from the past, appreciating while being critical of the present, and being hopeful while shaping the future.

Get ready to inspire and be inspired. Your brain and heart will leave with more than you came with. Thank you for being here, and welcome again to our AMWA’s 101st Annual Meeting.

Sincerely yours,

Samia Osman

Samia Osman, a MD/Master in Public Policy ’17 Candidate at Harvard Medical School and Harvard Kennedy School of Government, is the AMWA National Student President-Elect. Previously she also served AMWA as the National Student Treasurer and the National Student Recruitment Chair. Graduated with Honors from the University of Arizona, she triple-majored in Molecular and Cellular Biology, International Politics, and Psychology. As the Founder and President of Arizona's United Nations Children's Fund, she started a gyro sandwich business on campus that fundraised for education and health causes for children and women in war-torn areas. She also co-founded the Tucson Free Clinic, where she was known for driving around town to bring the homeless and the uninsured to the clinic. Upon graduation, she taught high school biology in her hometown, Mesa, Arizona, motivating students from underserved communities to pursue higher education. In 2011, Samia was a Fulbright Scholar in Taiwan, where she served as a cultural ambassador, researched on the universal healthcare system, and wrote travel and food articles to promote cross-cultural engagements. Samia is also a Health Consultant for the United Nations Work and Relief Agency. At Harvard, Samia is a former co-chair of the American Medical Association chapter, Student Representative to Harvard’s Financial Aid Committee, and a Governing Councilwoman to the Massachusetts Medical Society. Samia is also a mother to her baby girl, Ariya.
Hello AMWA Premeds,

Welcome to the 101st annual conference! Since the centennial celebration, the work completed by our division’s first national executive board has been notable. In response to our goal of increasing AMWA premedical student involvement nationally, leaders have created opportunities for students to participate in numerous advocacy projects, high school mentoring initiatives, and health campaigns.

Our division has also exceeded the numbers of our projected membership for the year of 2015-2016 by more than doubling our national membership. To achieve this, more local branches were established, and our first premed symposiums gave students, from all around, the opportunity to hear and learn from medical students and physicians in their area.

Due to increased involvement overall, newly established individual and chapter awards were created to recognize students for their accomplished work at this conference. Premed conference programs are also being implemented for the first time.

To mark the start of the second centennial of our organization, the Premedical Student Division is inviting all of its members to continue to spread the word of AMWA. This year, our division’s goals are to continue our increased membership, the establishment of compiled resources for pre-meds, webinar mentoring and advising, and much more. Together, we can achieve boundless goals, and on behalf of our division, we thank you for your trust in our organization’s presence in your medical journey.

Sincerely,

Jennie Luu

Jennie Luu is a graduate from Texas Tech University class of 2015, where she majored in Biology with a minor in Chemistry. During her undergraduate years, Jennie served as a pre-med free clinic leader, a member of Mortar Board’s top fifty seniors, and also cofounded Texas Tech’s AMWA chapter in 2013, where she served as president for two years. In the past, she was one of six students to be awarded her university’s Presidential Leadership Scholarship and was the first recipient of AMWA’s Pre-Medical Education Scholarship. Jennie’s interest in mentoring and teaching has driven her to successfully implement a medical school admissions review program at Texas Tech University’s Health Sciences Center and develop an annual curriculum to mentor high school students at Talkington High School in Lubbock, Texas as well. She plans to become a surgeon in the future and her hobbies include cooking, food photography, and all things fashion related.

Dear Fellow AMWA Pre-Medical Members,

We are so glad you’re here with us in Miami, and I am pleased to welcome you to an exciting and informative event! It’s an exciting time for the Pre-Medical Division as we continue to expand and progress, steadfast in our goals of advancing women in medicine and advocating for women’s health.

The American Medical Women’s Association continues to be a leader in confronting and challenging under-addressed issues, and I look forward to developing and highlighting initiatives in the 2016-2017 term. My goal is for AMWA to have a presence on campuses across the nation as the premier pre-medical organization that students can turn to for support, empowerment, and resources – all of which promote AMWA’s mission.

In addition to being a proud AMWA member, I am fortunate to work alongside other committed pre-medical students, who inspire and motivate me daily. Together, we have the passion, dedication, and vision to pave the way for a future of equality for women in medicine. I am excited to see what we can accomplish in the 2016-2017 term, and I look forward to making the Pre-Medical Division a success with your help!

Sincerely,

Laura Ballentine

Laura Ballentine graduated Drexel University in 2013 where she earned her Bachelor’s degree in Biological Sciences. She was selected to conduct her co-op at Fox Chase Cancer Center where she assisted in breast cancer research and undertook her own project. The experience was rewarding as it ultimately inspired her to pursue a career in medicine. Laura currently works at The Children’s Hospital of Philadelphia as a Research Technician, and she enjoys the environment in which physicians and researchers share a common goal and passion for providing the best care for patients. Laura has been involved in gene therapy research with the Division of Hematology and continues to work with the Center for Cellular and Molecular Therapeutics. She volunteers in Philadelphia’s local communities with projects such as the Homeless Health Initiative and participates in the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania’s College Volunteer Program. Laura aspires to be an osteopathic physician and is interested in pediatric medicine and women’s health.

Join us for AMWA’s Interim Meeting in Indianapolis, IN on Sept 17-18, 2016 and for AMWA’s 102nd Anniversary Meeting in San Francisco, CA on March 31-April 2, 2017!

COURSE DESCRIPTION
This conference will convene leading academic physicians, scientists, students, and prominent policy makers to discuss advances in women’s health, new concepts in mentorship, and career advancement for women in medicine. The conference will address how advances in medical technology and affordable care will affect the treatment of patients in the future.

COURSE OBJECTIVES
At the conclusion of this program, attendees will be able to:

• Engage in mentoring for professional performance and career development.
• Define human trafficking, and identify economic, political, social, and cultural factors that contribute to human trafficking;
• Describe the role of gender in management and prevention of disease;
• Recognize how to prevent burnout, depression, and suicidality in physicians.

Accreditation Statement
This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the Essential Areas and Policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) through the joint sponsorship of Indiana University School of Medicine and American Medical Women’s Association. The Indiana University School of Medicine is accredited by the ACCME to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Designation Statement
Indiana University School of Medicine designates this live activity for a maximum of 17.5 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Faculty Disclosure Statement
In accordance with the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) Standards for Commercial Support, educational programs sponsored by Indiana University School of Medicine (IUSM) must demonstrate balance, independence, objectivity, and scientific rigor. All faculty, authors, editors, and planning committee members participating in an IUSM-sponsored activity are required to disclose any relevant financial interest or other relationship with the manufacturer(s) of any commercial product(s) and/or provider(s) of commercial services that are discussed in an educational activity.

Note
While it offers CME credits, this activity is not intended to provide extensive training or certification in the field.

Disclosure Summary of Relevant Financial Relationships
Speakers and planning committee disclosed no relevant financial relationships except for the following:

Neelum T. Aggarwal, MD disclosed that she received honoraria from Eli Lilly for advisory board, education and honoraria from Merck for adjudication committee.

Lillian Franzmann, MD disclosed that she is consultant for Vigilant Bioscience Chief Scientific Office and receives stock and stock options, she is an inventor and received IP (licensed) from Vigilant Biosciences, and she receives research support from Vigilant Bioscience as a Principle Investigator.

Wayne M. Sotile, PhD disclosed he is an author for AMA Press and receives book royalties. He also disclosed he has received speaker honorarium from Abbvie Pharma.

Susan E. Wiegers, MD, FASE, FACC disclosed she owns stock in Merck and her husband is employed by Covance.

In accordance with the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) Standards for Commercial Support, educational programs sponsored by Indiana University School of Medicine (IUSM) must demonstrate balance, independence, objectivity, and scientific rigor. All faculty, authors, editors, and planning committee members participating in an IUSM-sponsored activity are required to disclose any relevant financial interest or other relationship with the manufacturer(s) of any commercial product(s) and/or provider(s) of commercial services that are discussed in an educational activity. All relevant conflicts of interest in the past 12 months have been resolved prior to this educational activity.

If you are unable to attend all four days of the entire program, please complete a Partial Credit Claim Form and leave at the registration desk on the last day of your attendance.

CME Certificate and Certificate of Attendance will be e-mailed after the program. Please allow 4-6 weeks for certificate processing.

Speaker and Program Evaluations will be distributed through email. Please complete the evaluation as soon as possible after the program.
The Mentorship Committee is proud to bring you events throughout the conference to maximize your opportunities to meet new people, make new connections and find life-long mentors!

ARTIST IN RESIDENCE

2015 AMWA Artist in Residence
Kathryn Ko, MD, MFA  Attending Neurosurgeon, Kings County Hospital, NY

Dr. Ko, a self taught Ambidexter, completed Neurosurgery training at Mt. Sinai Medical Center in New York City and earned a MFA from the Academy of Art University with emphasis on medical painting and drawing. During residency she also launched her complementary career in art by using the pulsed ruby laser to create medical holograms of the human brain. Ko regards art as a necessary continuation of her surgical practice. The operating theater is her studio; the treatment of the subject begins with the scalpel and ends with the brush. Dr. Ko is the originator of the monthly internet TV show “Art on Call ~ Medicine, work of Art” on the Healthcare Channel.

2016 AMWA Artist in Residence
Shilpa Darivemula  Albany Medical College, Class of 2018

Shilpa Darivemula is both a scientist and an artist. A fascination for science and a love for conversation directed Shilpa towards medicine while her training in Kuchipudi and her exposure to various traditional dances drove her towards movement. Kuchipudi is one of seven classical dances from India, requiring exquisite footwork, hand gestures, and facial expressions to narrate stories of Hindu mythology. Captivated by the power of dance, Shilpa has developed projects to use it as a tool for community development -- teaching dance to inner-city youth in Schenectady, teaching refugee women to share their traditional dances in a weekly women's group, producing Anamika, a mixed-media piece that combined ballet, praise dancing, and Kuchipudi as a call to action against human trafficking, and studying connections between traditional dance cultures of the world and their healing and healthcare delivery systems. She has performed at the UN Commission on the Status of Women and at the International Dance Festival in Morocco. Currently a student at Albany Medical College, she continues to merge medicine and dance by working with artists and administration on using arts to increase social and self-awareness in communities.

AMWA 2016 AWARDS

Presidential Recognition Award - Molly Carnes, MD, MS
Dr. Molly Carnes is the Jean Manchester Biddick Professor of Women’s Health Research and Director of the Center for Women’s Health Research at the UW. Additionally, she is the Director of the VA Women’s Health Program and Co-Director of the Women in Science and Engineering Leadership Institute (WISELI) in the College of Engineering. Dr. Carnes received her medical degree from the State University of New York at Buffalo and completed her residency, geriatric fellowship, and master’s in epidemiology at the UW-Madison. Dr. Carnes’s research focuses on how cultural stereotypes influence judgments and decision-making in ways that constrain opportunities for careers in academic medicine, science, and engineering for women and individuals from other groups that have not historically been well represented in these areas—particularly at the leadership level. Dr. Carnes has published over 125 articles and has received a number of awards including an NSF ADVANCE Institutional Transformation Award, an NIH Director’s Pathfinder Award for Research to Promote Scientific Workforce Diversity and, most recently, an NIH Transformative R01 to Explore the Science of Scientific Review.

2016 RESIDENT DIVISION AWARD WINNERS

Elinor Christiansen Altruism Award - Angela Jarman, MD
Angela initially became interested in Gender as an undergraduate at Duke University, where she majored in Women's Studies before deciding to pursue a career in Medicine. She graduated from the University Of Kentucky College Of Medicine and during her time there worked extensively with administration to increase representation of women among the College's graduates. In 2013, Angela moved to Salt Lake City to pursue residency training in Emergency Medicine at the University of Utah, where she is currently a Chief Resident. Angela was recently awarded a fellowship position at Brown University in International Emergency Medicine. At Brown, Angela will continue her work with a focus on gender as a determinant of health in the developing world and will obtain a Masters in Public Health degree while splitting her time between Providence and Kigali, Rwanda.

Outstanding Mentor Award - Parin Patel, MD
Parin is a second year OB/GYN resident at UTMB in Galveston, Texas and has been a dedicated AMWA member since medical school. Over the years, she's assisted with position statements, helped with conference planning, worked to increase membership as the Undergraduate Recruitment Chair and the Resident Division Recruitment Chair, and strived to improve health care with the Preventive Medicine Task Force. She is passionate about women's health and advocates for better healthcare locally and nationally. One of her favorite parts of AMWA is the opportunity to work with inspiring individuals and bring about change. In addition to professional endeavors, Parin is an active member of the BAPS Hindu religious organization. In her free time she likes to do yoga, cook, and read.

Susan Love Writing Competition - Preethi Raghu, MD
The Force of Positivity: Managing Stress in Residency
Preethi Raghu, MD was born in South India and raised in the U.S. She started writing poetry and prose in middle school, and grew to love the intensity of translating emotions and stories onto paper. During medical school, she was involved in AMWA as Region 2 director and later as national program chair. Dr. Raghu combined her love for writing and for AMWA during intern year by serving as editor of the AMWA Resident Quarterly. She continues to be involved in AMWA during residency as national secretary for the residency division. Dr. Raghu is grateful to be a two-time winner of the Susan Love writing competition, as it has supported her passion for becoming a physician-writer. She is currently completing her residency in diagnostic radiology.

2016 STUDENT DIVISION AWARD WINNERS

Linda Brodsky MD Essay Award

First Place: Jessica Churchill, Eastern Virginia Medical School
Physician Mentor: Dr. Teresa Babineau
Jessica is a member of the Eastern Virginia Medical School Class of 2017. She participates actively in community medicine programs and is one of the Co-Directors of the EVMS student-run free clinic, HOPES. She is also the founder and president of the EVMS branch of the American Medical Women's Association. After obtaining her M.D., she plans to pursue a career in orthopaedics.

Second Place: Grace Sun, Brown University
Physician Mentor: Dr. Lisa Lattanza
Grace Sun is a student in the combined Baccalaureate-MD program at Brown University. Her passion for medicine grew out of women's health, which she has been involved in since. She believes in the importance of empowering and educating young women about their bodies and well-being. Grace indulges her creative outlets through printmaking, photography and graphic design. She loves collecting and sharing music, hiking mountain trails and tasting new street foods.

Third Place: Meleha Ahmed, NYU School of Medicine
Physician Mentor: Dr. U
Meleha (Mel) Ahmad is an MD/MS dual degree student at NYU School of Medicine, spending a year between her third and fourth years of medical school pursuing an MS in translational research. Originally from Karachi, Pakistan, she received her BS from Brown University in Biomedical Engineering in 2011. She enjoys writing and drawing in her free time and hopes to specialize in ophthalmology after graduation.
Eliza Lo Chin Unsung Hero Award: Lauren Carlozzi, Northeast Ohio Medical University
Lauren is currently a third year medical student at Northeast Ohio Medical University. She entered into a combined BS/MD program out of high school and received both her Bachelors of Science in Biology and Master of Public Health from Youngstown State University. After being her local AMWA Vice President, she joined the National Student Division as the External Relations Chair for the 2015-16 year. She has felt the tremendous support from the AMWA community since joining in her new role and plans to continue being a part of this amazing organization throughout her medical career.

Heller Outstanding Branch Award: The Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine
The Johns Hopkins AMWA Branch organized a four-part Breast Cancer Awareness series, a two-part Sexual History-Taking series, and provided grants to female medical students conducting urban primary care research. Our Leadership Series workshops taught networking, conflict resolution, and negotiation skills. We also initiated a service partnership with Girl Scouts and continued our successful undergraduate mentoring program. The Vagina Monologues raised funds for community-based organizations serving survivors of intimate partner violence.

Outstanding Regional Director Award: Caroline Mullis (Region 2), New York Medical College
Born and raised in Atlanta, Georgia, Caroline Mullis is a medical student in the New York Medical College's Class of 2017. She attended the College of William and Mary, where she received a B.S. in Neuroscience and Women's Studies. Following her graduation, Caroline worked in an international HIV research laboratory. As a medical student Caroline became an active member in AMWA serving as the 2014-2015 branch co-president and subsequently the AMWA 2015-2016 Region 2 director.

Haffizulla Family Scholarship: Gabriella Reyes, University of Medicine and Health Sciences
Gabriella M. Reyes is a second year medical student at the University of Medicine and Health Sciences (UMHS), St. Kitts. Gabriella's journey with AMWA began as Founding President of the UMHS Branch in 2014; from 2015-2016 she served as the Student Division Region 5 Director. She hopes to pursue a career in Preventative, Functional, and Integrative Medicine; while inviting others to join her on a path towards health and wellness.

2016 PREMED DIVISION AWARD WINNERS

Outstanding Branch Award: UC Berkeley
Active Branch Award-Baruch College
Branch Event Award-Kean University

Premedical Education Scholarship: Ramsha Suhail
Ramsha is the founder and president of the AMWA at Baruch. Ramsha hopes to launch an education-based program for the survivors of human trafficking at RestoreNYC, a non-profit. She is developing an AMWA mentorship program with the AMWA at NYU SOM, interning at the Urgent Care Unit of Memorial-Sloan Kettering Cancer Center (MSKCC), and is a researcher at NYUSOM. In her free time, she is training for the Bridgehampton Half Marathon and working on her upcoming novel.

Student of the Year: Lauren Matsuno
Lauren Matsuno is a current undergraduate studying Molecular Toxicology at University of California, Berkeley. She is the current pre-medical advocacy chair and co-founder of the UC Berkeley branch in which she helped recruit new AMWA members, planned volunteering events, offered mentorship, and coordinated a pre-health symposium networking fair. Aside from creating helpful advocacy resources for her division, she enjoys volunteering at a local emergency room and suitcase clinic which caters to Berkeley's underserved community.

The American Women's Hospitals Service Celebrates 99 Years

The American Women's Hospitals Service (AWHS) was established in 1917 as an extension of the War Service Committee of the Medical Women's National Association (later renamed the American Medical Women's Association). The War Service Committee had been unsuccessful in persuading the government to grant women physicians commissioned status in the military. Not to be deterred, the women physicians went overseas to the war ravaged countries, and through AWHS, built hospitals and cared for those who were displaced due to war. After the war, AWHS remained overseas to provide aid during religious persecution, genocide, and natural disasters. During the Great Depression, AWHS ran mobile health clinics in rural America to provide desperately needed healthcare.

Over the years and with changing times, the goal of AWHS has been to help fund clinics worldwide that provide care and support the advancement and empowerment of women and children in underserved areas. Specifically, AWHS has sought to foster sustainable and innovative projects in programs both abroad and at home that inspire individuals and work to make a difference in diverse communities. AWHS also provides yearly travel grants for students and residents who work abroad in areas of need. Celebrate the 99th Anniversary of AWHS with a tax-deductible contribution of $999, $99 or $9.99 or $.99 at the registration desk or at the merchandise table. We are aiming for 100% participation at this meeting!

The Medical Women's International Association (MWIA)

The Medical Women's International Association (MWIA) is an international non-governmental organization (NGO) representing women doctors from all six continents. The association was founded in 1919 by AMWA past president, Dr. Esther Pohl Lovejoy and is one of the oldest professional bodies at the international level. It is non-political, nonsectarian, and non-profit making. AMWA is a member organization of MWIA, so all members of AMWA are members of MWIA. MWIA's Theme for the 2013-2016 Triennium: Prevention and Elimination of Domestic and Sexual Violence.

Be an AMWA delegate to the 30th International MWIA Congress which will be held in Vienna, Austria July 28-31, 2016. Contact ExecutiveDirector@amwa-doc.org and visit mwia.net for more information.

Congratulations, Mama, on receiving the Bertha Van Hoosen Award!

We see you working all hours each day and night and are proud of everything you have accomplished for AMWA—all while maintaining the utmost humility. You have shown us how to live beyond ourselves in the service of others. Thank you for continuing to be a loving mother and wife, while also working to make the world a better place for women. We are daily inspired by your passion and dedication.

-- Doug, Emily, Sarah, Nathan, and Lucy

The University of Kansas Medical Center congratulates Kimberly Templeton, M.D., the AMWA’s 101st president.

We are proud of Dr. Templeton’s international reputation as a leader in the field of orthopedic surgery and a champion of change in medical and public education.
Dr. Padmini Murthy receives AMWA’s Elizabeth Blackwell Medal

We are very proud to share the news with the world that Dr. Padmini Murthy, is the first Indian born American recipient of the 2016 Blackwell Medal of the American Medical Women’s Association (AMWA).

Dr. Murthy has been the recipient of numerous awards including the Sojourner Truth Pin, the National Council of Women USA Distinguished Leadership award, best physician at work place by the Ministry of Health in Saudi Arabia, As a child of India, she upholds a very important legacy set by Anandi Gopal Joshi (Anandibai) who was the first Indian Woman to obtain a medical degree on March 11, 1886; the topic of her thesis having been “Obstetrics among the Aryan Hindus”. Today, Indian women are among the world’s best and brightest physicians and constitute a large proportion of medical doctors’ societies in many countries. In her dedication to women’s health Dr. Murthy hosts a radio program with African Views Teleforum where she discusses women’s health challenges and facilitates sustainable health solution on a global level.

We congratulate Dr. Murthy again on her monumental achievement. We hope that this attainment, like many before it, will continue to be an inspiration to women everywhere in the world.

The Kansas Orthopaedic Society congratulates KIM TEMPLETON MD on her installation as President of the American Medical Women’s Association.

We honor your leadership & commitment to improving health care.
CONGRATULATIONS on the “Presidential Award” Dr. Farzanna Haffizulla!
We are so proud and honored to have you as our Broward Medical Director for Haven Home Health Care. THANK YOU for all your hard work in the community focused on raising the bar in the delivery & quality of Health Care through education and dedication to Haven, AMWA, Preventive Medicine Task Force support of the Surgeon General’s National Prevention Strategy, Mission Critical Health, Precision Medicine and Haven Specialty Programs.
