PRESIDENT’S MESSAGE

Dr. Eleanor Nwadinobi, Nigeria
MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

I am writing to you, as the world is going through turbulent and unsettling times. The COVID-19 pandemic, has arrived like a whirlwind and has swept up the most vulnerable in our communities and impacted heavily on all of humankind.

Our Medical Women’s International Association (MWIA) members are amongst the dedicated frontline responders and in addition, have been at the forefront of sensitizing members of the public urging them to observe strict social distancing and hygiene vigilance. The Exco on behalf of MWIA put out an advisory to assist our communities with the necessary precautionary measures in easy to understand messages. We responded compassionately to our colleagues in Italy, who sent us an SOS. Additionally, I put out a President’s rallying call as well as a short video clip on behalf of the Exco titled, “To our heroic healthcare personnel” The link appears below.

https://spark.adobe.com/video/SbGfueJhQvStj

This year held great expectations and was supposed to usher in the celebration of a new decade and commemoration of important milestones for women’s health and rights. The year 2020, marks 75th anniversary of the United Nations, 25 years after the Beijing conference and 20 years of the UN Security Council Resolution 1325 on women, peace and security. However, the Commission on the Status of Women (CSW), Beijing +25, scheduled for March, 2020, was cancelled due to the global pandemic. We thank the organisers for their leadership and wise decision that averted putting over five thousand women at risk.

As I said in my rallying call, “Remember every storm has an expiry date. We will ride out this particular storm together as we look forward to seeing the rainbow on the other side of it”.

It has not been all doom and gloom. For me, the year started with celebrations in my honour on the rise to the position of President by the women of Saint Matthews Anglican Church, led by Dr Chizoba Wonodi and Mrs Azuka Uwanaka, who hosted me to a dinner. This was followed by another reception hosted by Professor Lovett Lawson, Professor of Tropical Medicine and Chairman, Zankli Medical Centre, Abuja and his wife, an active MWAN member, Dr Olufunke Lawson, Vice-Chair and Consultant Paediatrician, Zankli Medical Centre, Abuja.
I presided over the first Exco meeting as President on January 12, 2020 and we took far reaching decisions on behalf of MWIA. We called for status reports and work plans for 2020 by Committees and Working Groups and these are being submitted for review by the Executive Committee.

The second Exco meeting which held on March 21, 2020, was a time to chart a new course in the face of the COVID-19 pandemic, with a resolve to keep the MWIA engine running. As part of my opening remarks to the Executive, I said the following, “As the MWIA Executive, we will scale-down but not abandon ship. We may slow down but we must not come to a screeching halt. We have to adapt to massively changing circumstances and inject some flexibility into the way we do business”.

At home, it was important to show solidarity with colleagues when one of our members in Nigeria, suffered physical violence in the workplace. I participated alongside male and female doctors, in a protest march to register our displeasure on behalf of our colleague.

It was a good advocacy opportunity for me to participate in meetings on the sidelines of the African Union summit and to lend the voice of MWIA to the theme of “silencing the guns”. I attended the Gender is My Agenda Campaign (GIMAC), pre-summit consultative meeting. I added my voice to the discussions by requesting that we go further than silencing of the guns and move towards restricting the production of guns.

In commemoration of International Women’s day, I was presented to His Excellency, Muhammadu Buhari, President of the Federal Republic of Nigeria, by Dame Pauline Tallen, the Honourable Minister of Women Affairs. I went in the company of my family and members of the Medical Women’s Association of Nigeria. It provided an opportunity to encourage the Nigerian Government to work with MWIA as a preferred partner in women’s global health and to urge the government to respond meaningfully to the COVID-19 pandemic as was the case for Ebola.

In his twitter handle President Buhari said the following:

“It was my pleasure to receive Dr. Eleanor Nwadinobi at the State House today. She is the first Nigerian elected President of the Medical Women’s International Association, in its 100 years of existence. Her great achievements should make all of us proud as Nigerians”.

https://twitter.com/MBuhari/status/1237494305188712449
I was interviewed for a feature story by the World Health Organisation (WHO) as part of International Women’s Day commemoration.

As part of the drive to increase the visibility of MWIA, I have granted press interviews to media organisations such as Arise news, Love FM and several newspapers. I was also one of the featured personalities of African international documentary festival foundation in a documentary called the “Voice of women, inspiring stories from leading women” in celebration of international women’s day.

As the founding Co-chair of the Steering Committee of the Everywoman Treaty, a global coalition calling for a global treaty to end violence against women and girls, I co-authored a report called the “Safer Sooner” report. It is a wakeup call to the plight of thousands of survivors of violence against women and girls. MWIA will also ensure increased awareness regarding those who may be undergoing increased cyber bullying and heightened domestic violence as they are in forced isolation in unsafe spaces with their abusers as we ride out the COVID-19 pandemic. The link appears below.

https://everywoman.org/safer-sooner/

MWIA is forging new partnerships and alliances under my leadership. But for the ban on gatherings, we had put everything in place to co-host a Conference on Women’s Health and Well-being, on the 12th of June, in Bristol, UK. The lead host was to be Business and Professional Women (BPW) international, partnering alongside at the Royal Society of Public Health (RSPH). In addition, thanks to our North America Regional Vice President, we were also invited to the Cervical Cancer Action for Elimination Network. Once we can get back to normal, this will be a good platform for our HPV prevention Working Group.

In conclusion, our members are doing us proud around the world. Two of our Executive Committee members were decorated with honours in their respective countries. Dr. Mandakini Megh and Dr. Desiree Yap.
I wish you Easter blessings. Please keep safe.

Warmly,

Dr Eleanor Nwadinobi

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

I write this message to you from my home office as most of us globally are working from home, being at home living in a new world, where we are being mercilessly attacked by a pathogen (a virus) Corona. We in the United States are unfortunately facing unprecedented challenges on all fronts as a result of the COVID 19 outbreak, New York where I live, and work has been particularly affected. It is sad for me to mention that my state ie New York State has the highest number of cases of COVID 19 globally and we are hurting on all fronts. I would like to extend my sincere appreciation to those of my colleagues who have reached out to me personally to express solidarity with me and AMWA. Online teaching for med students including clinical skills and virtual patient consults are at present a daily routine for many of us.

Despite what seem insurmountable odds we are facing technology and social media play a tremendous role in connecting all in more ways then one.

I have been attending webinars and conferences on COVID 19 to contribute, listen and learn

This edition of the MWIA newsletter is considerably shorter than the regular ones due to the crisis and hope the next one will be similar to the past issues.

Please find enclosed a short poem written by me about the pandemic am also sharing links to 2 published articles on COVID authored by me.

Catastrophic Corona

Corona, Corona, Corona,
Does not show humans any Karuna (mercy)
Nor does it discriminate,
In its aim seems to eliminate,
Rich, poor young and the old,
And stop their quest for gold,
The face which has a mask grins and lies,
Does it really hide our cheeks, mouth and shield our eyes?
Donate your masks to your doctors,
Who are in the roles of their lives as frontline actors,
This ongoing Armageddon exposes the human guile,
Please fellow citizens do not stockpile!

5. Message from treasurer

Dr. Helen Goodyear UK

It has been a pleasure and honour to talk by email with many members as we sort out the 2019-2020 dues from countries and individual members. Thank you to all who have been in touch. We are continuing to sort out financial matters as an Exco committee and the Finance committee, chaired by Dr Bettina Pfleiderer, Past President continues to give much valued input. As I write this, I have just come back from a week’s relaxing skiing holiday in France and it is International Women’s Day. Despite the difficult circumstances we are currently working and living in, worse in some countries than others, it is a day of celebration for all that women do and continue to do. Please contact me on helengoodyear@btconnect.com for any treasurer issues.
6. Message from MWIA Past President

Message MWIA past President Prof. Dr. Dr. Bettina Pfleiderer

In 2020, the world has seen unforeseen challenges regarding our health, our well-being, and our work as physicians and our families. The COVID-19 pandemic has meanwhile reached Europe and the US, which are the epicenters of infection currently. While health systems and politicians do their best to tackle the crisis and help everyone in need, they cannot always be as successful as wanted. Being a German and therefore living in a country with about 92,000 infected by COVID-19 so far, we have learned the hard way that we are not as well prepared as we thought we are: we don’t have enough masks and protective gears in stockpile, we responded too slow at the very beginning of the pandemic, since we really had no plans in place how to respond and we are still adjusting every day. This is true for many countries globally. Therefore, it is necessary to learn from the best practice approaches around the globe and from countries that were able to fight the virus effectively and slow down the rate of infections. MWIA as global network umbrella organization of medical female doctors play an important role in this and facilitates mutual discussions and exchange!

As current MWIA representative to the European committee of European physicians (CPME) I attended a virtual meeting on COVID-19 just yesterday with an update from national Medical chambers on the situation in their countries. Many countries reported that about 25 % of health care workers including many physicians have been infected so far. Since many more women than men are working in the health care system, they are more often infected and also have to shoulder additional responsibilities when e.g. they have younger children in times when kindergartens, schools and daycare facilities are closed.

Even though it is a nice gesture when the public applauds to everyone in the health system every evening in many countries and acknowledge what they are doing, I still wonder why in most decision making processes and national task forces mainly men are involved and female competence is not included, when in fact mostly women fight the virus in hospitals and all over their countries. I am wondering why comics are circulating showing superman, batman and a male physician as heroes. Why is no female physician shown when talking about superheroes? Gender equality has still not reached medicine and we must continue as MWIA to tackle this during the pandemic and afterwards!

Another area of concern is the increasing rate of domestic violence against women and children during the COVID-19 outbreak. In those times of lockdown women and children have fewer opportunities to find a safe space or escape the violent perpetrator. MWIA has always raised its voice to tackle violence against women and children and I was honored to share MWIA´s campaign poster against violence during the one billion rising campaign with other national coordinators and European-wide members at the general assembly of the European women´s lobby (EWL) in Brussels (Belgium) at the beginning of March. I am the current MWIA representative to the EWL.
I wish you and your family strength, endurance and good health! Let us move, stand up and rise to the challenges of COVID-19 and beyond!
7. NEWS FROM AROUND THE REGIONS

A. Central Europe

Message from Dr Edith Schratzberger-Vécse
VP MWIA Central Europe

Dear Colleagues:

I very much hope you are doing ok these days. I suppose many of you are struggling with the situation in one or the other way. Our Italian colleague updated us with desperate reports from her country. I think in Central Europe we might have had a few more weeks to prepare but have to expect or rather are about to see a similar spreading of the infections...
When life was still normal our German colleagues did a lot of preparation work for our regional meeting, which is supposed to happen in May 2021. The exact date is 28.-30.5.2021, the location is in the very center of Central Europe, in Bavaria, in the Abtei Frauenwörth on the Fraueninsel on lake Chiemsee. The conference itself will be a joint effort of Germany, Switzerland and Austria and at the moment I am above all looking forward to the meeting as a possibility to see each other, hug each other and have a nice time together.

Let me finish by wishing all of you the very best, please take care!
Edith
B. Northern Europe

The Northern European Meeting, which was supposed to happen this May, has been cancelled and postponed to May 2021.

Message from Dr Elizabeth Lichtenstein
VP MWIA Northern Europe

Dear Colleagues:

There have been a lot of emails and “Skype” meetings lately because of this Covid-19. In The Swedish Medical Women’s Association we have postponed our AGM – until autumn? The Regional meeting is postponed till next year. Where I work we are running out of safety gear and they are telling us not to use masks unless we know it’s Corona – so how am I going to know when I get an emergency patient tonight off the street that I have to intubate? Sweden has the lowest count of ICU-beds in all of Europe (save Portugal who has the same count) and we are building Covid-19 hospitals in our Congress-halls. We still do not know who is going to work there as we were lacking personnel even before all this happened. We are putting in extra night shifts in the hospitals as it is due to Corona in all our ICU-departments, and as we are lacking the correct masks and safety equipment our bosses say we have to make do with what we got. I fear that we will have the same numbers of fatalities as Italy and being among the elders with asthma I am even concerned for my own safety. Sweden’s economy is locking down and a lot of small firms are going bankrupt. Still the buses into Stockholm were crowded yesterday when a lot of the bus-drivers are ill and not working...I am not sure we are handling this in the best way.

All the best and Please take care!

Elizabeth

This quarter with the challenges posed by the COVID response, most members Associations are putting their efforts to join their National Governments, however they continue with targeting women and vulnerable groups. We note with appreciation that the Region is learning from MWAN based on the Ebola epidemics which was successfully managed, The Vice President has appealed to all National Association to make Solidarity Survival Packs in solidarity with Food insecure households and those threatened by hunger. We hope this will be upscaled as a regional initiative as we respond to the COVID-19 pandemic as PHEIC.

Ghana:
The Medical women Association of Ghana has reactivated "Project Hope" an initiative embarked on during the Ebola Haemorrhagic Fever outbreak, to support affected children in Liberia.

This project is led by lady doctors in Ghana and MWIA members. Our goal is to procure and/or make facemasks for distribution to frontline staff and/or general public, intensify education on COVID-19 and extend a caring hand to needy families by providing food where needed. The project is lead by MWAG pioneers, Dr Nana Adoma Odame. MWAN is committed and believes that in times like these, every little support anyone can offer, helps.

Dr Marion Okoh-Owusu

Kenya:
KMWA started the year with a focus on Confidential Enquiry into Maternal Deaths which has revealed useful lessons that we hope to address this year. It was immediately followed by the development and launch of Adolescent and Youth Policy focusing on SRHR and HIV.
We started planning for the CSW64 and International Women’s Day together with State Department Gender Affairs and other stakeholders, but activities were abruptly halted due to the COVID-19 pandemic which took the priority.
KMWA is supporting the Ministry of Health in various committees and Dr. Abdallah is spearheading on behalf of KMWA and other pathologists the strengthening of Laboratory services and technical issues on how to improve testing. KMWA halted the launch of Women Centre of Excellence and now the space is used for various COVID-19 response activities:

1. Call Centre and hotlines for women who are pregnant but are unable to reach normal services. Support Adolescent girls to mitigate risky behaviour that may lead to unintended pregnancies.

2. The SGBV and Domestic has increased by 41% since Curfew and restriction on movements started. KMWA together will women CSOs and partners are mounting a response to address this concern KMWA will start making and distribution of person hygiene items such as soap, cloth masks and source for sanitary towels as the supply chain disruption globally has made these items not easily available and prices have gone up beyond the reach of most households living on or below one dollar a day.

More will be reported in the next quarter.

Dear Dr Sadia,

QUARTERLY REPORT OF THE ZIMBABWE WOMEN DOCTORS ASSOCIATION (ZWDA)

ZWDA was formed in April 2019 and became formally affiliated with MWIA at the Centennial Congress in June 2019.

The Association started accepting formal membership from women doctors in Zimbabwe from December 2019. We currently have 53 fully subscribed members and continue to accrue more each week. There are currently 665 female doctors in Zimbabwe.

ZWDA became formally affiliated with the Zimbabwe Medical Association (Zima), the representative association for all medical doctors in Zimbabwe, in February 2020 and is currently planning together with the ZiMA Executive Committee, a Joint Symposium on Gender Bias in Medicine, which is scheduled to take place in June 2020. The symposium aims to raise awareness on the issue of Gender Bias in Medicine as well as to map a way forward to tackle this issue with our male counterparts.

Radio talk shows on topical health issues are being held by members of the Association: Dr Leanny Chakawata gave a talk on Renal Problems in Children and Dr Davidzoyashe Makosa spoke on Endometriosis in March 2020.

The ZWDA Mentorship Program was launched in October 2020 and a Mentoring Skills workshop which was being planned for March 28 March 2020 had to be postponed due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The aim of the workshop was train female doctors and medical students who are already in a mentoring position, as well as those preparing to take on such a role on how to have an effective mentor-mentee relationship are already in a mentoring position, as well as those preparing to take on such a role.

The Communications and Social Media Sub-Committee of ZWDA was formed late December 2019 with the main aim of increasing our profile and encouraging more women doctors to join the Association. This is a committee consisting of 4 members who are in charge of information distribution and marketing on the different social media platforms of the association.
Facebook and Twitter pages have been created, which were complimentary to the already available WhatsApp and Telegram groups. These pages allowed us to have a larger reach outside of the association. We currently have a following that has been growing exponentially.

ZWDA launched Online ‘Women In Medicine’ chats on our Telegram group which has 200 members. This is a platform where discussions are held on important issues that affect women doctors and medical students. Our first discussion was entitled “Gender Bias in Medicine, does it exist?” and was held on 19th February 2020.

The Communication and Social Media Sub-Committee has also decided to honour women in medicine in Zimbabwe who have made an impact on colleagues and patients over the years, through a social media campaign ‘Woman Doctor of the Month’. Women doctors who are excelling in their field are identified by the Sub-Committee and a short biography and achievements of the relevant doctor are circulated on our social media platforms to help motivate other women doctors and medical students. The first ‘Woman Doctor of the Month’ was Doctor Madeline Nyamwanza-Makonese, the first black female doctor in Zimbabwe and second black female doctor on the African continent.

Lately, due to COVID – 19 pandemic, our social media platforms have been spreading awareness to both health workers and the public about keeping safe and ways to avoid infections. One of our members, Dr Monalisa Muchatuta, an emergency medicine physician currently based in New York created a video for ZWDA members detailing her experiences working with COVID-19 patients. This was circulated on our social media platforms.

We are hoping to increase our reach as time progresses by posting more content on our respective platforms as having a website, a LinkedIn Page as well as a newsletter.

The Executive Committee also hopes to hold a fundraising event later in the year to raise funds for St Joseph’s Mission hospital which is building a new maternity wing.

Kind regards,

Western Pacific Region MWIA Update March/April 2020:

VP WPR Dr Desiree Yap MWIA Update April 2020

Our regional report is very brief. Partly because I myself have been very caught up on our own COVID-19 response. Like many I have found myself preparing my practise and for all the activities required for a COVID-19 response as well as managing the care of elderly parents and (teenage) children. Because of this I did not notify our region in a timely manner to receive responses for this update. For this lapse I unreservedly apologise.

What I can say is that many countries in our region were the first affected by the COVID-19 outbreak and as such we have all been very busy with that – some from January and some from February onwards as the scale of the pandemic became increasingly apparent. Many countries in our region displayed early and exemplary management once the situation was recognised. Others, for political and resource reasons have not been as fortunate or their status is not clear.

The Western Pacific Region wishes all members of MWIA well with their battles to combat this virus and we stand in solidarity with our sisters and communities.

Hong Kong MWIA Update April 2020

1. Care for Members during COVID-19 Outbreak

(A) Encouraging Message

During this difficult time, especially for the healthcare professionals, a series of encouraging message have been sent to our members and friends. Heartfelt thanks to Dr. Christina Cheuk, Dr Connie Ngai, Mr. Tang and Miss Kathy Yu for the most beautiful photos and affirmative quotes.

(B) Free N95 Masks

The past few months have been a testing time for medical workers worldwide due to the outbreak of COVID-19. It is, however, a time when warm support from our society is much needed and appreciated. In March 2020, the HKWDA received a kind donation of 120 pieces of N95 masks (including 40 pieces of Gerson 1730 and 80 pieces of ValuMax 5902) from the community. Distribution of the masks to HKWDA members was arranged through drawing lot and was met with good response. In April 2020, HKWDA received a further donation of 60 pieces of N95 masks (Moldex 2200) and 1 box (50 pieces) of Henry Schein Procedural Ear Loop Face Masks. Distribution of the masks to HKWDA members is being arranged. The HKWDA would like to express gratitude to all members who have worked hard to safeguard the health of Hong Kong people during this pandemic.
Japan MWIA Update

The novel coronavirus (COVID-19) was identified as the cause of unexplained pneumonia in Wuhan, China at the end of 2019. In Japan, the new Coronavirus Infectious Disease Control Experts' Meeting was set up on February 14 and more than 10 days have passed since the quarantine of Diamond Princess started, so it may have been quite late. Furthermore, it is clear that the COVID-19 infection on the officers boarding the quarantine had failed to control the infection on board. Of great concern in the epidemic of infectious disease is fear and discrimination due to lack of information. The first is the prejudice against China and the Chinese who were infected. Next is the prejudice against domestically infected people, their families, and the healthcare professionals involved. The U.S. Department of State has already raised the danger level for travel information to Japan in four stages to the second-higher "warning attention" on February 22 in light of the spread of the new coronavirus infection. The US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) also raised the level of caution on travel to Japan to three levels, the second, "Strengthening Precautionary Measures." Japanese association for Disaster Medicine issued a protest statement on February 22 as Medical personnel, such as doctors and nurses, who have responded to the new coronavirus are being treated illegally, such as being treated as "bacteria" in the workplace. Discrimination and prejudice will eventually return to ourselves. We must keep in mind that if each of us is confirmed, we will be similarly exposed to prejudice.

Facing a worried nation on the brink of a potential dramatic spike in novel coronavirus patients, Prime Minister Shinzo Abe on April 7th pleaded with residents to stay home to protect their lives to counter what he called “the biggest crisis since World War II.” Abe’s news conference followed the official declaration of a state of emergency earlier in the day covering seven prefectures and running through May 6. Many Japanese feel Prime Minister Abe's decision was too late JMWA made the official declaration of a state of emergency on April 7th and urgently request the following 10 items to protect all healthcare workers, women, and socially vulnerable peoples from various damages related to the new coronavirus infection.

“The official declaration of a state of emergency by Japan Medical Women’s Association.”

1. Distribution of blood anti-SARS-CoV-2 antibody test kits to all healthcare professionals
2. Improvement of access environment to new coronavirus PCR test
3. Establishment of temporary hospitals or promotion of use of existing empty beds
4. Promote reemployment of retired and displaced healthcare workers
5. Rapid financial support for single parents
   Financial support for individuals rather than households without discrimination in gender or occupation, such as non-regular employment, freelancers, and service businesses working in nightclubs (night life business)
6. Support for street dwellers (so-called homeless), dwellers in Internet cafes, etc.
Flexible consultation service for domestic violence (DV) damage and temporary protection of victims
7. Care and support for pregnant women
8. Financial support for private medical clinics
