

SAVE THE DATES

January 25-29 2021

HPV Prevention Week Webinar Series #UsvsHPV

Watch Live or On-Demand Noon-1PM EST

Registration Opening Soon

RISE-RENEW-REINVENT

"Just when the caterpillar thought the world was over, it became a butterfly."
With this uplifting proverb in mind during the current SARS-CoV-2 pandemic, we at the American Medical Women's Association (AMWA), Global Initiative Against HPV and Cervical Cancer (GIAHC), and Indiana University National Center of Excellence in Women's Health (IUNCoE) are proud to host the 2021 Us vs. HPV webinar series.

Why Watch the Webinar Series?

Building on the foundation that was laid during the Us vs. HPV Prevention Week in 2019 and 2020, the 2021 session will provide the latest updates on FDA's approval of the HPV vaccine for oropharyngeal cancer, World Health Organization's (WHO) formal adoption of the global strategy to eliminate cervical cancer and American Cancer Society's modifications to the cervical cancer screening guidelines, among other important topics.

Target Audience

Each 1-hour webinar is intended for health care providers, parents, patients, young leaders and advocates who work in the in the area of women's health.

Webinar format

The webinars will include several talks by national and international experts. In addition, patient perspectives and young leader's efforts will also be recognized. A live panel discussion will be hosted at the end of each webinar session to answer audience questions.

Register for Webinar at Indiana University:
Stay tuned for more details.

Registration will ensure access to both live and on-demand programming.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY

NATIONAL CENTER OF EXCELLENCE
IN WOMEN'S HEALTH
School of Medicine